

FOR SALE

CAR ADAPTED FOR ONE-HANDED DRIVING

I am moving to a country where they drive on the right and therefore I am therefore having to sell my beloved little car!

It is a black 2001 Corsa SXi, 'easytronic' transmission, 3-door hatchback. Engine size 1.2. It has done just over 43.000 miles and is in a good condition. Taxed until the end of June and I will also leave warning triangle, ice-scrapers, sponges, oil etc. for the buyer.

'Easytronic' means that you can drive it either as an automatic (which I do as I only have use of my right arm) or as a manual, but without a clutch.

The adaptation was fitted only about 7 months ago and is called a 'SmartSteer' device. The SmartSteer allows you to control indicators, lights etc. at the SAME TIME as you are steering. It is really comfy and easy to use. I will definitely have another one in my next car. I have decided not to have this one taken out of the Corsa because I think it would be a waste as it was only recently fitted, and costed £1400 to fit.

I am selling this car for only £3400, a total bargain if you consider how much it costs to fit this adaptation! BUT, as I am in a hurry to sell due to leaving the country in early February I am open to some negotiation.

A brilliant first-car buy! Call me!
